

Every day, far too many people are diagnosed with cancer, cardiovascular disease or infectious disease. Finding new ways to fight these tragic diseases takes time and commitment.

Please become a Research Partner today. Your monthly support will help fund:

- Cancer research
- Cardiovascular disease research
- Infectious disease research
- State of the art equipment that allows new techniques to be pursued and accelerates the pace of research
- Recruitment and retention of the best medical research scientists

Heath was a perfectly healthy 19-year-old, or so his family thought. He was the youngest of five kids, an apprentice plumber, an active bushwalker and a volunteer at the local rural fire brigade.

Heath's sister, Zoe, remembers the day Heath died like it was yesterday. His sudden death at the family home has devastated his entire family.

Each year, over 1,000 young Australians like Heath die from sudden cardiac death.

The Centenary Institute's researchers are working day in and day out to unlock the genetic secrets of this tragic medical mystery so that other families will be spared the heartbreak of so suddenly losing a young loved one.

Helen White/Fatboxphotos

Today I ran 8km, had breakfast, arranged 3 sales promotions and booked my echo-cardiogram check up.

Helen White/Fatboxphotos

“When they find the gene that killed my little brother, I want to be tested as soon as possible. I'm 30 now and still get a heart health check every year. I hope and pray for an answer. I don't want another family to have to go out and choose a coffin for their 19-year-old boy.”

What does becoming a Research Partner involve?

Research Partners make an ongoing monthly gift by direct debit from their credit card or bank account. It's such a simple way to give.

Your credit card or bank account will automatically be debited on the 10th of each month. You can increase, decrease or cancel your regular gift at any time, simply by calling us. And each July, we'll send you a statement of all your donations.

To become a Research Partner today, complete and sign the enclosed form and return it to us in the reply paid envelope addressed to Centenary Institute, Reply Paid 83998, NEWTOWN NSW 2042.

For more information about our work or to find out more about our Research Partner program, please call our fundraising team on 1800 677 977.

Why are Research Partners so important?

With your help, many types of cancer, cardiovascular and infectious diseases will one day be a thing of the past. Preventions and cures will be found. It's only a matter of time.

By becoming a Research Partner you will join an exceptional team of researchers. You will be standing right along side them as they work to unlock medical mysteries and seek that next breakthrough that will save thousands of lives.

In fact, every dollar you give goes towards funding the best scientists and equipment needed to accelerate the pace of research. We simply couldn't do it without you.